COLUMBUS ANNIVERSARY.

Will Be Participated in by Vermont Historical Society.

Montpelier, Oct. 18.—The Vermont Historical Society yesterday afternoon, at its annual meeting, elected the following officers: G. G. Benedict of Burlington, president; W. M. Stickney of Ludlow, W. H. Crockett of St. Albans and F. A. Howland of Montpelier, vice presidents; J. A. DeBoer of Montpelier, recording secretary; T. S. Peck of Burlington and C. S. Forbes of St. Albans, corresponding secretaries; Henry F. Field of Rutland, treasurer; E. M. Goddard of Montpelier, librarian.

An invitation was received from a geographical and historical society in Mexico to join that society and others in the celebration of the 400th anniversary of the death of Columbus, which occurs on May 20, 1906. It is not the plan to hold a joint celebration, but for each society to observe the day in the places where the societies are located.

The invitation was accepted and a committee was appointed to make plans for the occasion. On this committee are F. A. Howland and Hiram Carlton of Montpelier, and W. W. Stickney of Ludlow.

J. A. DeBoer, secretary of the society, read the reports of the three meetings last fall. The report of the treasurer, Henry F. Field of Rutland, was read by his son, E. D. Field. It shows a balance of $425 in the treasury.

There have been five deaths in the society during the year.

Son of Wealthy Parents Goes to Jail to Shield Them.

HE IS "JAMES W. HILDRETH."

Arrested in Boston for Larceny of $100 Worth of Jewelry in Haverhill—Hopes to Live Down the Disgrace.

Haverhill, N. H., Oct. 18.—James G. Hildreth, son of a wealthy Vermonter, went to jail yesterday afternoon in default of a $100 fine rather than tell who his father is and to shield his family from the disgrace his arrest brought upon them.

Hildreth was arrested at the North station in Boston Monday as he stepped from a train, the local police having sent word of his departure from this city with about $100 worth of jewelry, which he had stolen from Mrs. Cora McNaughton, whose guest he had been.

Hildreth pleaded guilty and refused to tell why he had taken it. The stolen property was recovered when he was searched.

The young man has travelled all over the country, and claims New York as his residence, but admitted in court that his people were wealthy Vermonters. He met Mrs. McNaughton during the summer while driving a stage coach which took her and her daughter from the railroad station in a small Vermont town.

Judge Fuller gave him a $100 fine, with an alternative of three months in the house of correction, and Hildreth chose the jail term that he might live down the disgrace away from people he knew.

CHARLES MANN VICTIM

With a Friend, Mr. Jesselyn, He Was Playing on the Brae-Burn Links at West Newton, Mass., Yesterday.

Boston, Oct. 18.—While playing golf at the Brae-Burn Country Club links, West Newton, Charles Mann, 63 years old, a Boston merchant, living at 26 Crawford street, Roxbury, was fatally injured Monday afternoon by being accidentally hit in the forehead by his opponent's driver.

The venerable golfer was taken into the clubhouse and medical attendance summoned. Dr. George L. West of Newton Center, medical examiner for the district, responded, but he found that Mr. Mann had sustained a punctured wound in the head, as his injury was technically known, and that he was practically past help. He lived but about three hours.

Mr. Mann was an enthusiastic golfer and had for some time been an active member of the Brae-Burn Country Club. He frequently passed an entire week at the clubhouse in company with his wife. With an invited guest, a Mr. Jesselyn of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Mann went out to Brae-Burn clubhouse Monday afternoon. While Mrs. Mann lounged about the magnificent building and chatted with other members, Mr. Mann and Mr. Jesselyn started over the course in a practice round. They had proceeded but a few holes, when the score was very close, when Mr. Mann took a position back of his opponent to watch an especially critical drive.

As the club was swung over Mr. Jesselyn's shoulder it struck Mr. Mann on the forehead, knocking him unconscious. Mr. Jesselyn and several other players who were on the course rushed to the assistance of Mr. Mann. In the clubhouse he recovered consciousness for only a short time and seemed to recognize his wife, who, although nearly overcome, did all in her power to give assistance.

3,000 Men at Jeddoh, Pa., Are Now Out of Mines.

Hanover, Pa., Oct. 18.—The strike of the driver boys at the Jeddoh collieries of G. B. Markle & Co., which occurred a few days ago, has resulted in the strike of 3,000 employees of the Markle Company. The boys quit work because they declared that their wages were under the standard. A committee waited upon the officials of the company and asked to have the matter adjusted. The superintendent of the company declined to consider the grievances of the drivers on the ground that they had quit work before properly lodging their complaint, thereby violating one of the awards of the strike commission. The entire operations of the firm are tied up, miners' local union of Jeddoh meeting and voting to suspend work.
